DEDICATION

As a prelude to the construction of the new addition to our present high school, much thought and planning was necessary to bring about action. The public needed to be assured of the immediate need for expansion.

An assembly for the purpose of electing a Student Council president was presented by a group of juniors portraying the need for the new addition. This information was to be relayed through the students to their families and also the community in general. This program, in addition to meetings and newspaper publicity, proved to be a success, for soon after—on May 20, 1952—the bond issue was supported by the voters of Lockport Township.

Ever since the groundbreaking in the spring of 1951, we have been watching a dream of an enlarged building become a reality.

In an effort to express our thanks and appreciation, we dedicate this, the 1952 Lock, to the people within the community who are making "Our school of tomorrow" possible.

In a try out for the Student Council presidency during a school assembly in May, 1950, John Pretto, Ardith Mathers, George Larsen, Ralph Benck, Betty Carroll, William Richards, and Frances Ott give "pep" talks on the necessity of a larger high school building and the current bond issue election. John Pretto is shown explaining the building plan.

J. E. Coyle, architect for the new addition, studies the blueprint.

FOREWORD

We, the Lock Staff of 1952, have tried to compile this yearbook as an enduring record of one year of our lives. We have given a summary of events of the past year and a glimpse into the future in "our school of tomorrow." It is our hope that you will enjoy our portrayal of life at L. T. H. S. as it is today and will be tomorrow.

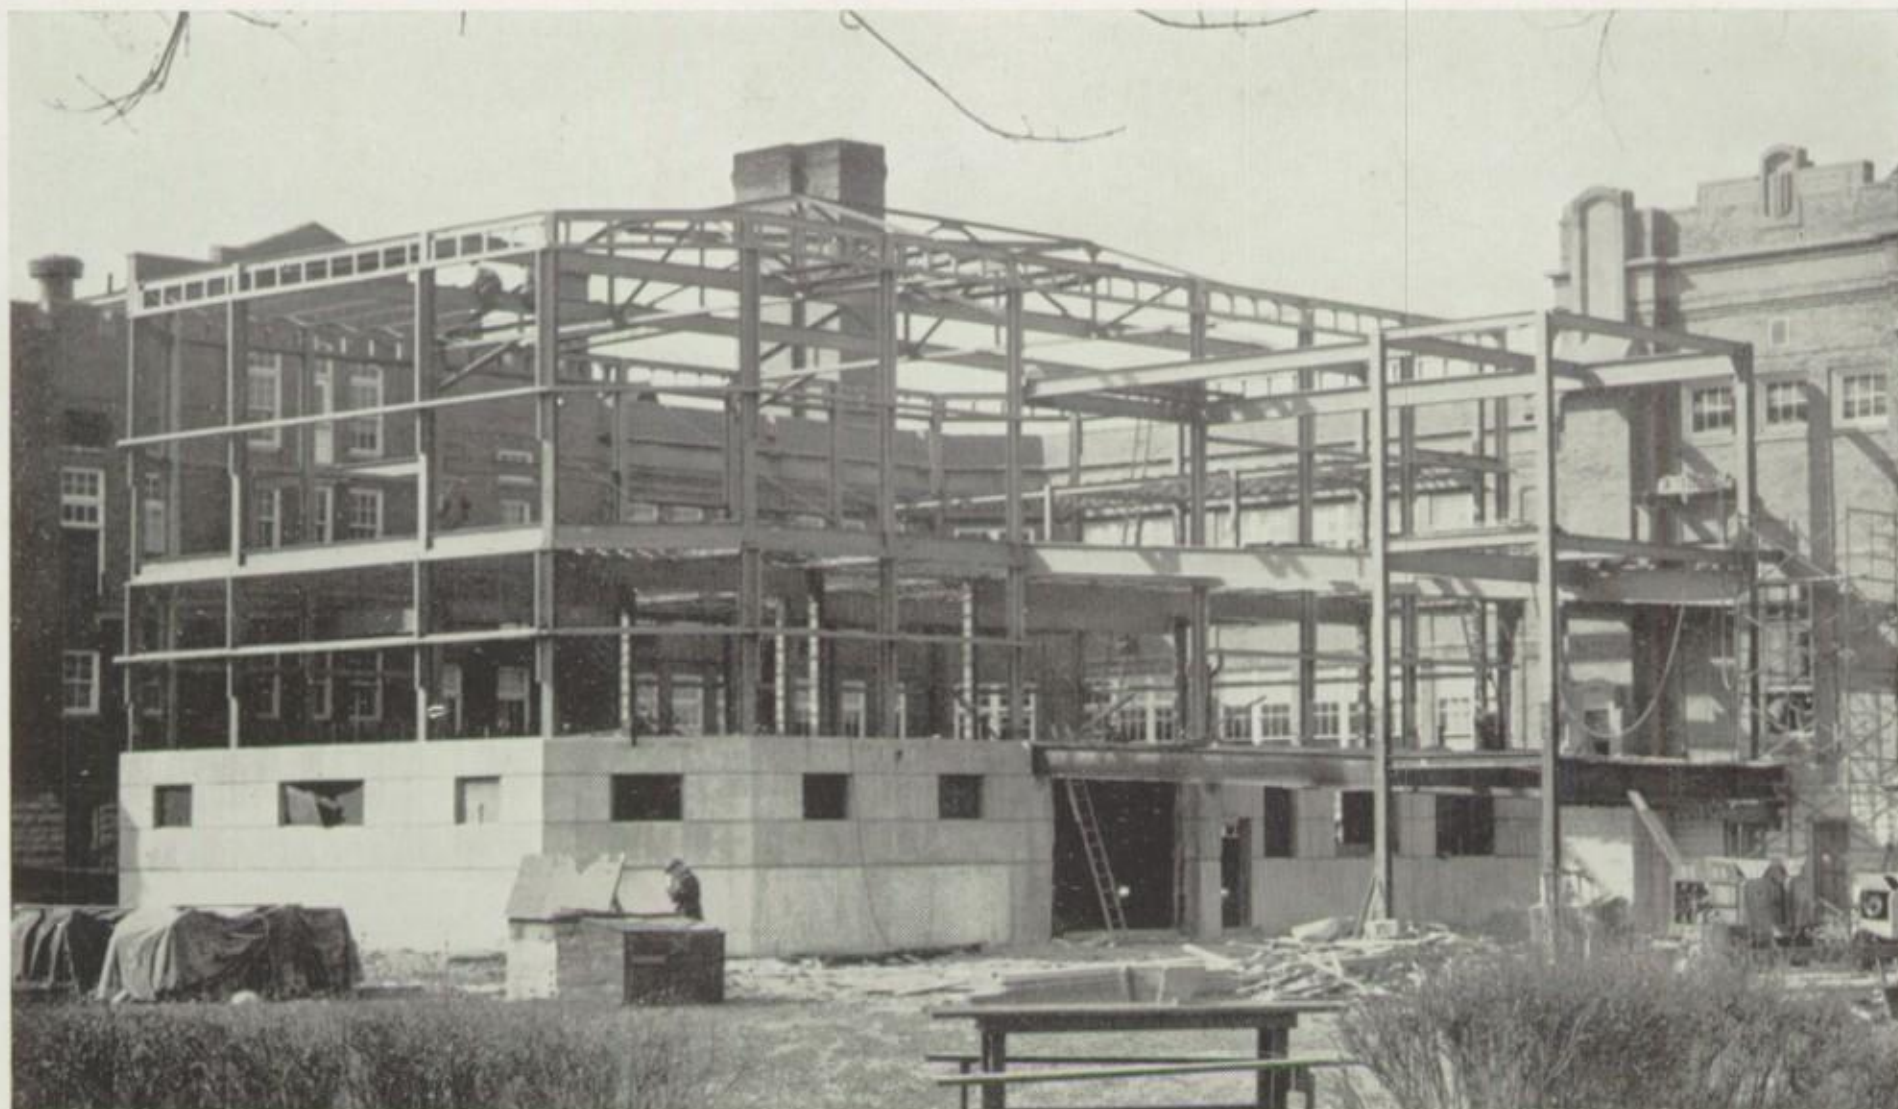

We express our appreciation and gratitude to our sponsor, Mrs. Mildred K. Shoop, who gave unstintingly of her time and ability in the editing of this, the 1952 Lock. We also thank the S. K. Smith Cover Company, the Pontiac Engraving Company, Harrington Studio, and The Ogren Press.

Top: Students watch excavator prepare the site for the foundation of the center court building—Spring, 1951.

Bottom: The center court building under construction—October, 1951.

The center court building under construction—April, 1952. This part of the addition will be connected to the present building and the rest of the new structure by overhead bridges. It will include the heating plant, the study hall, a storeroom, and the library.

TWELFTH STREET

OUR

The end of another school day is at hand and students rush from the building to catch their busses.

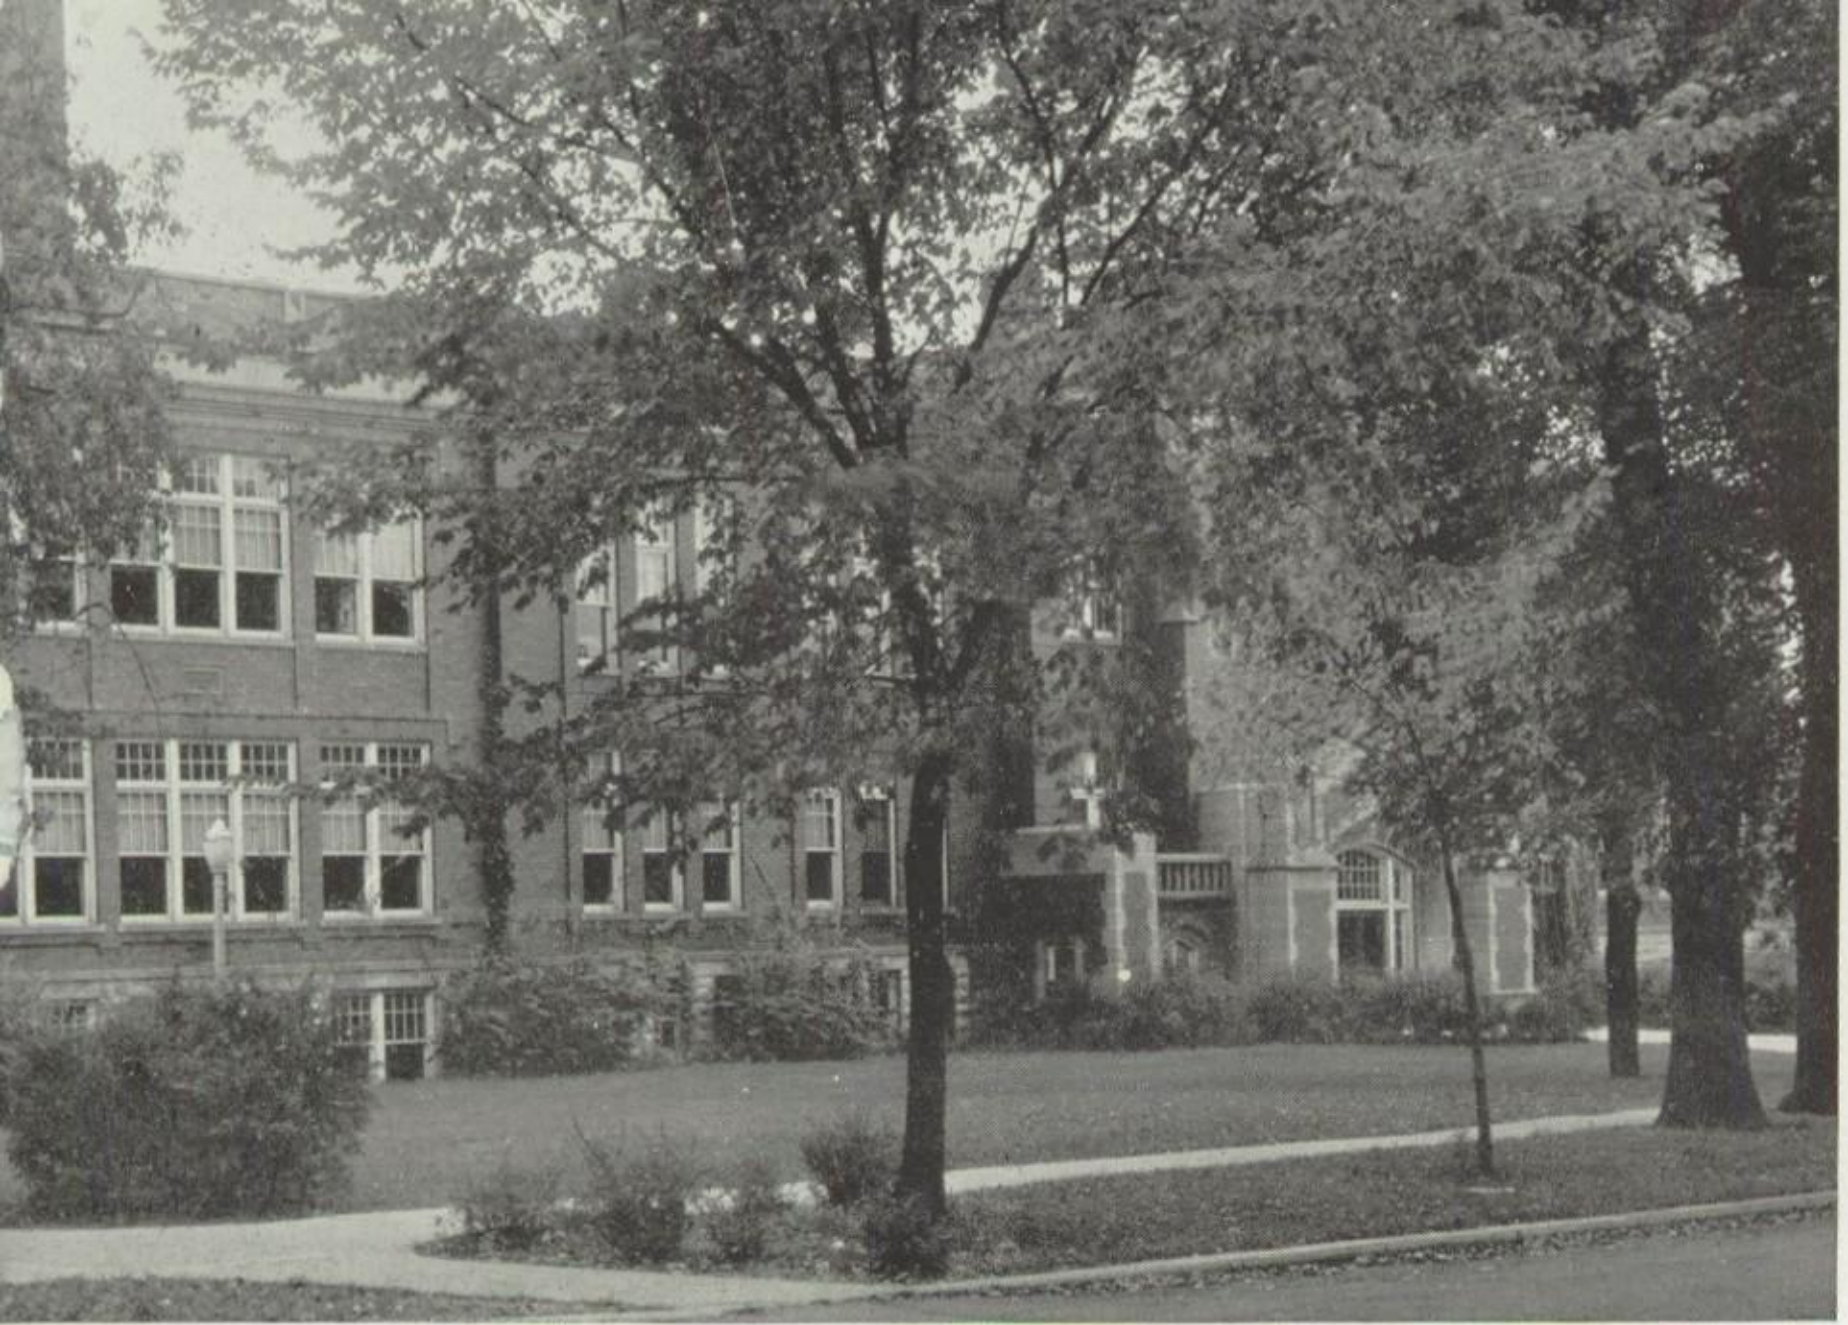

In 1909 Lockport Township High School was founded. Increased enrollment brought it to its present size by two additions, the first in 1925 and the second in 1930.

Our school of today includes a swimming pool, a gymnasium with a seating capacity of sixteen hundred, acoustically treated corridor ceilings, a cafeteria, a study hall, band and art rooms, and an unusually beautiful trophy room.

Soon our school of today will be supplemented by a much needed addition to accommodate the ever-increasing enrollment.

JEFFERSON STREET

SCHOOL

Airview showing site of new addition which will extend to Thirteenth and Madison Streets, therefore enlarging our school to the occupancy of the entire block. (School faces Jefferson Street.)

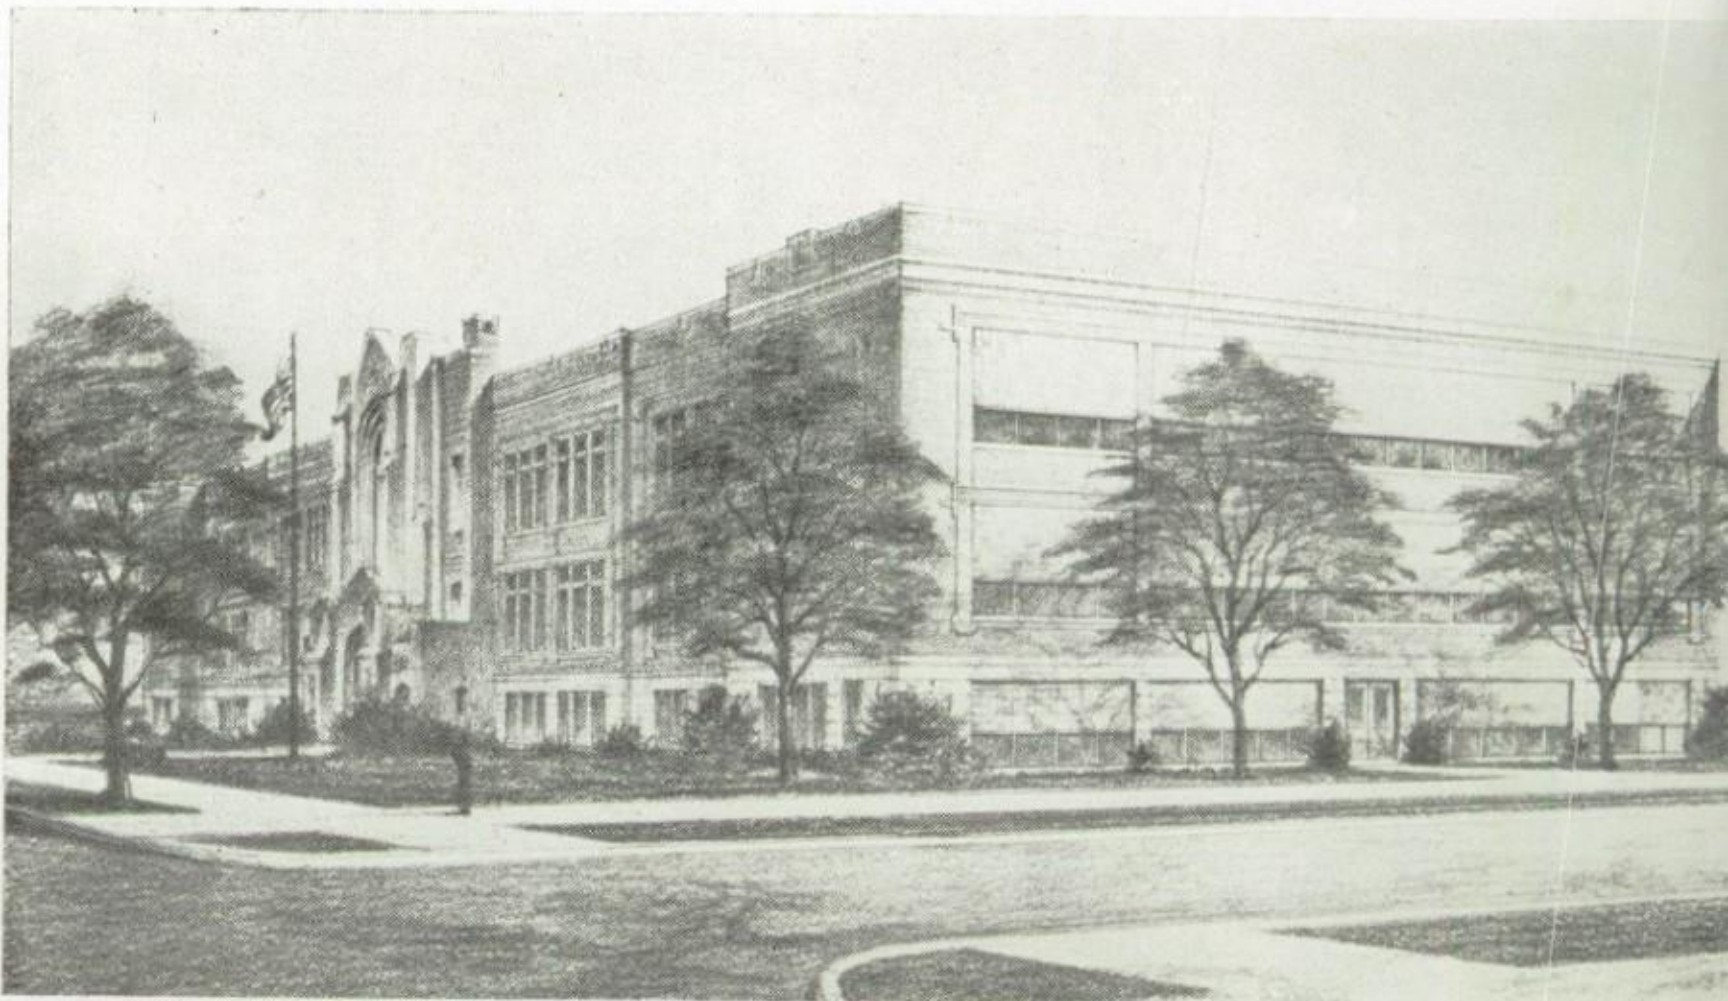

A between-classes scene—Doors open outwardly into the halls and students dashing to and from classes soon block the narrow passageway.

CONDITIONS WE ARE ALLEVIATING:

Students crowd into the cafeteria for lunch.

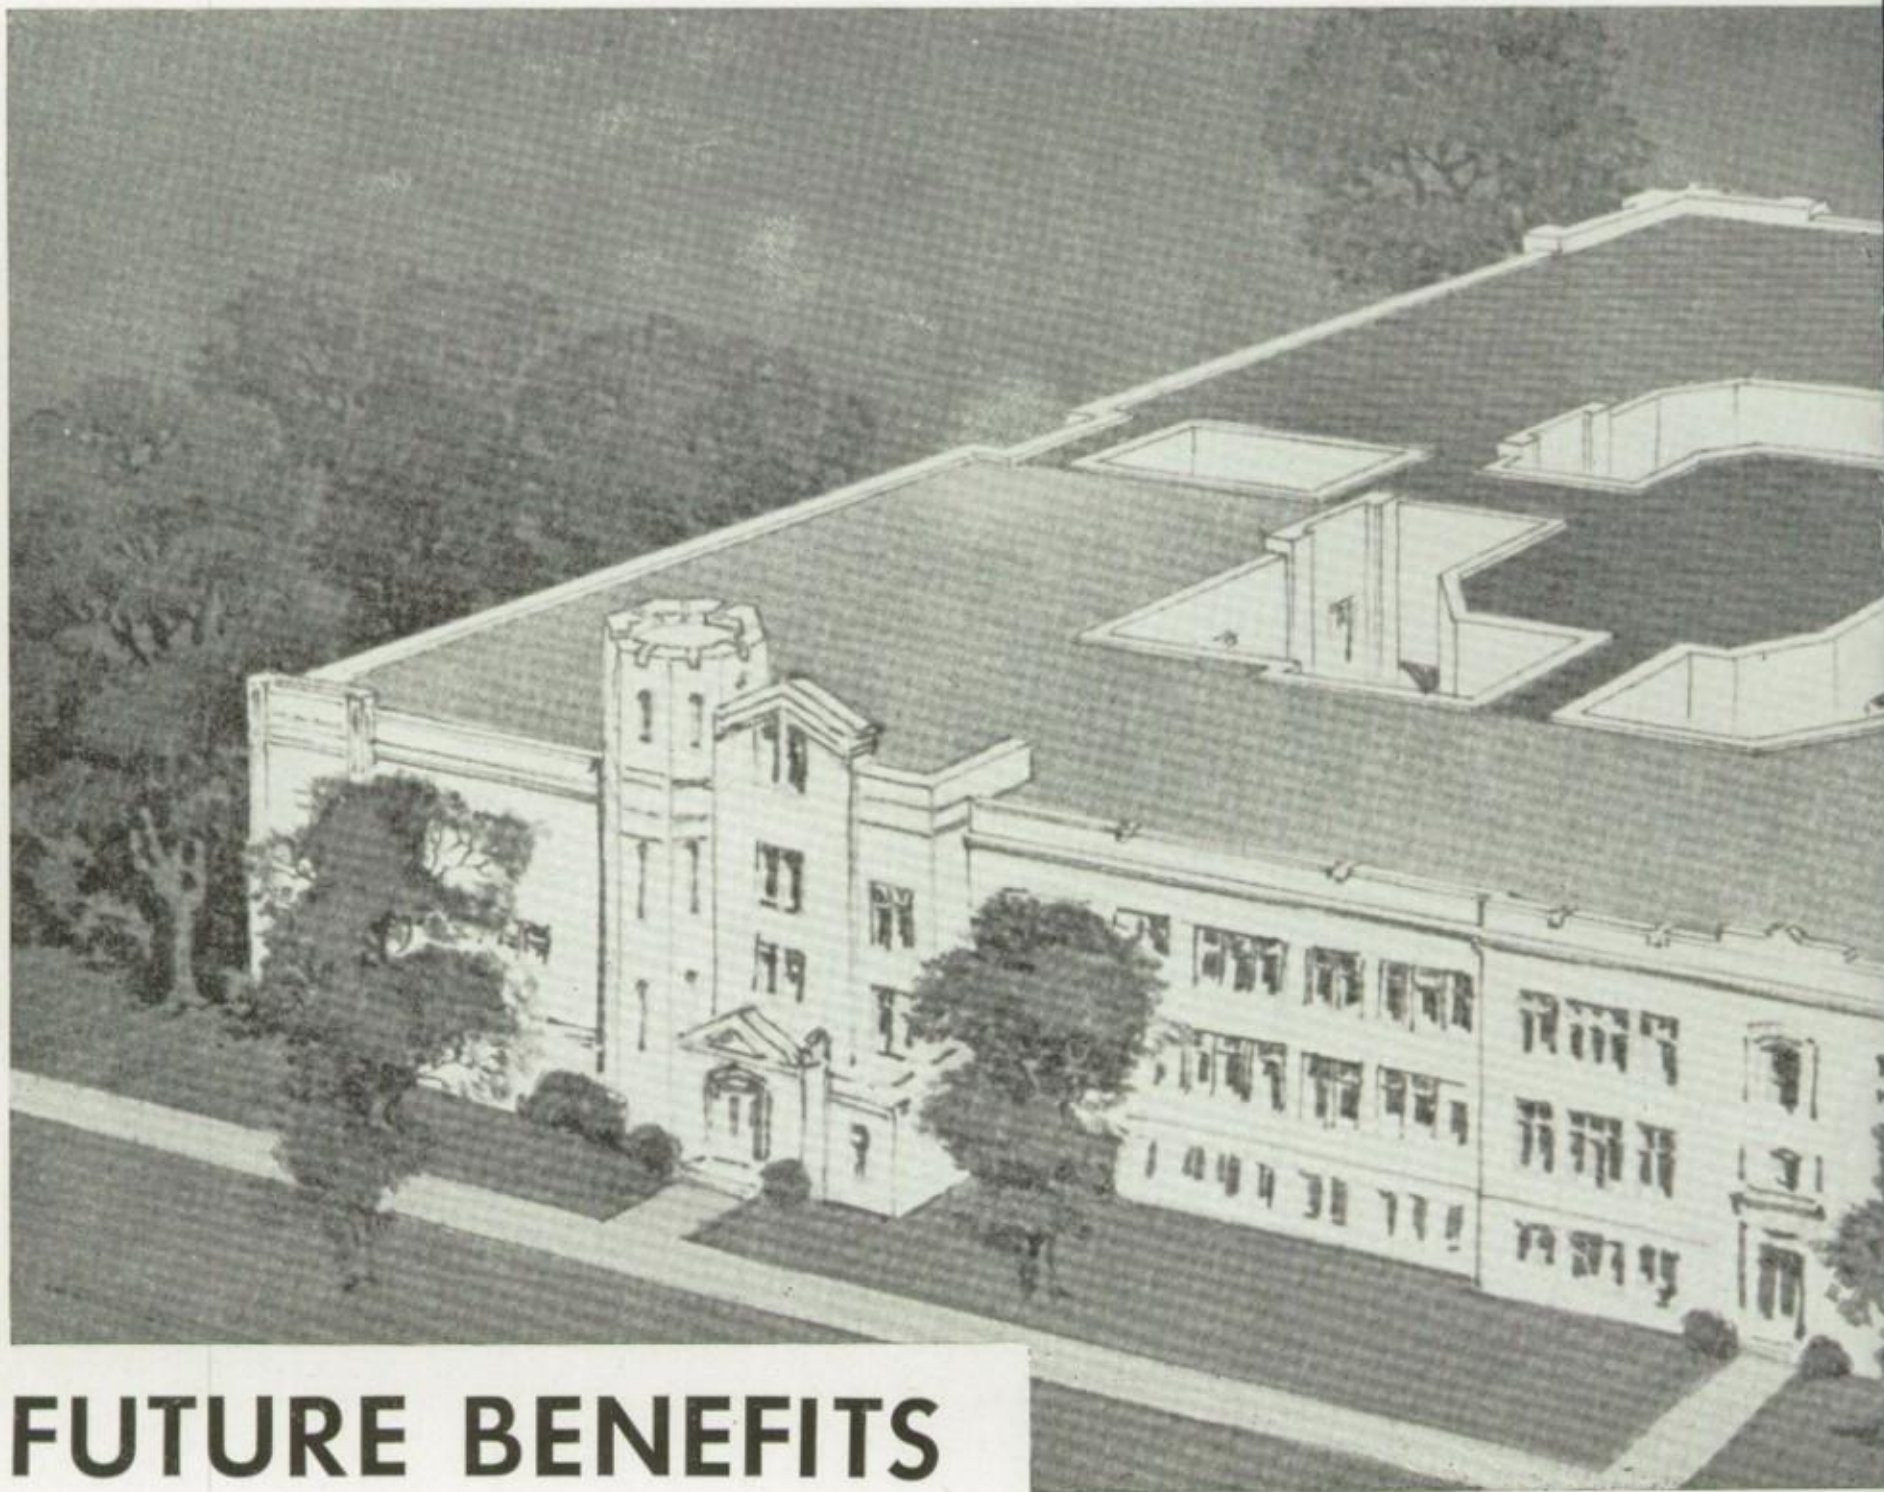

The inability of the present cafeteria, assembly hall, library, and study hall, to accommodate all of the students soon will be alleviated by the building of larger and better such rooms in "our school of tomorrow." Lack of locker space, crowded classrooms and gym classes, and congested halls and stairways will also be remedied via the annexation.

FUTURE BENEFITS

The Plan Provides for These

AUDITORIUM

A vital medium for individual expression, creating school loyalty and the moulding of character. Seating capacity—1,250.

CAFETERIA

Our high school is a large community in itself which requires an adequate kitchen and service of well planned hot lunch facilities. Seating capacity—six hundred.

CLASSROOMS

Twenty-five regular and special classrooms are planned. Lighting, seating and temperature control are important to the work environment of present day classrooms.

LIBRARY

The library is a center of activity reaching out into every school department. The school must also provide a place for quiet study and preparation.

THE BUILDING PLAN

The new building wing along the south of the school site will contain the entrances to the main auditorium and cafeteria. The new structure in the center of the court will be connected to the present and new building by overhead bridges. Other important features of the addition will be laboratories, faculty rooms, administrative rooms, new boiler room, new toilet facilities, and girls' locker room. Parking facilities will be located in the center of the court.

Important New Facilities:

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT

The science of agriculture today must be provided to meet the needs of our rural students as well as experience for boys in metal work, woodworking, machine shop, drafting, etc.

GIRLS' PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

Intramural sports and athletics are a vital part of school life to the girls' physical education.

VISUAL EDUCATION ROOM

Modern training methods, through the use of educational film, are an important addition to classroom training. Seating capacity—two hundred.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

A good school provides opportunities for participation in instrumental and vocal music.

OUR SCHOOL

THE PEOPLE

Although crowded conditions now exist for our students and faculty, such will be eliminated in "our school of tomorrow." Twenty-five new classrooms will be added, a new library, faculty rooms, new laboratories, a visual education room, an agricultural department, and administrative rooms.

OF TOMORROW

OUR SUPERINTENDENT

Administrator Recognizes

Having been with the Lockport Township High School for twenty-seven years, Superintendent James M. Smith has watched the enrollment grow from 229 students in 1925 to 683 in 1952. After making a survey of the enrollments of the grade schools within the township, he recognizes an even greater need for a larger school building.

Being vitally concerned with his students, Superintendent Smith has been an intelligent adviser and counsellor to them—each year planning courses of study to enable them to have a full life both in high school and in later years.

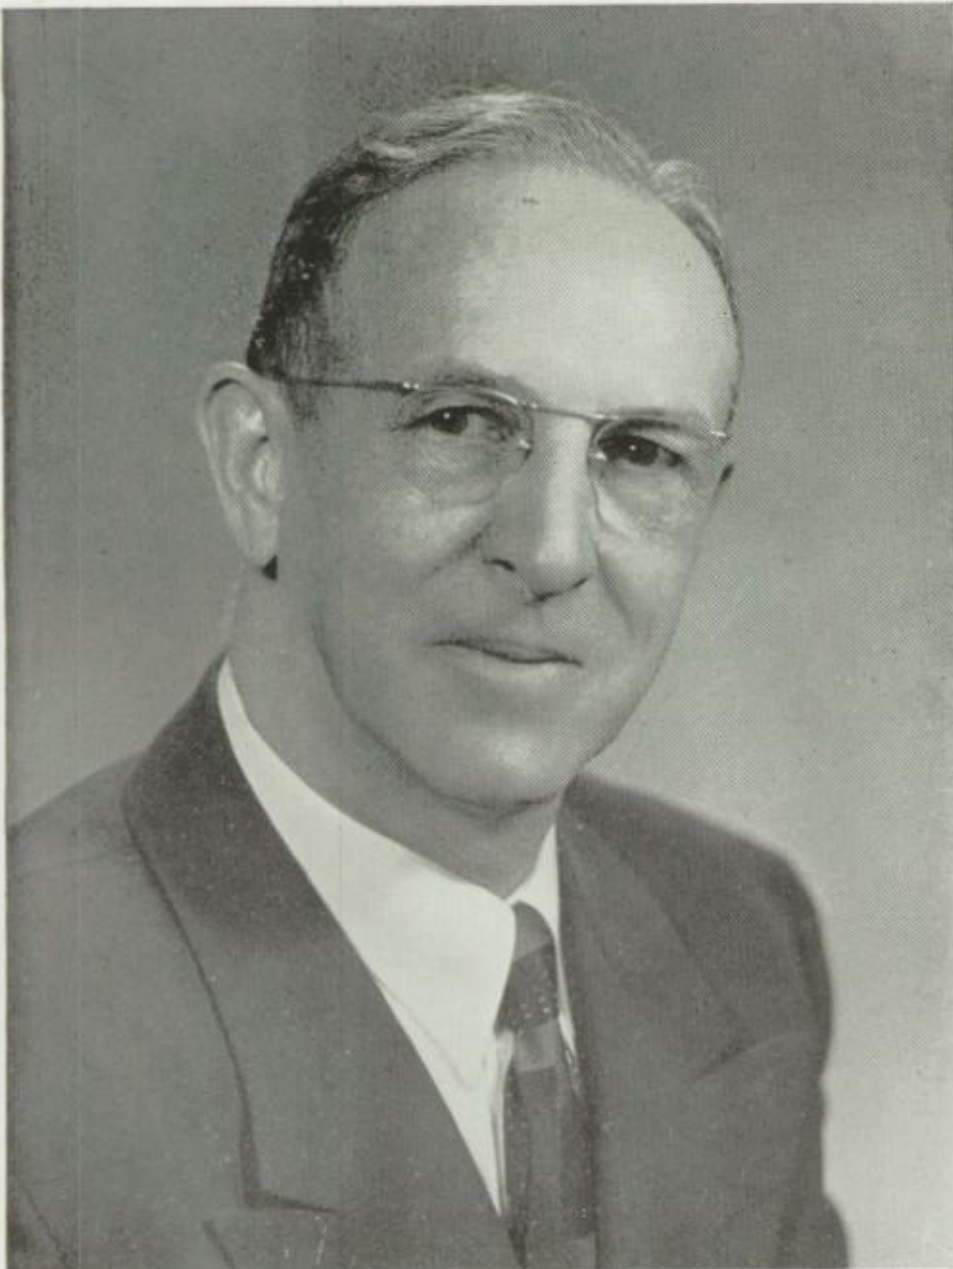

Mr. Smith, who has recently resigned as superintendent in order to make his home in California, has been honored with a sabbatical leave of one year by the Board of Education.

During his long term of service as superintendent of our school, Mr. Smith has been responsible for many improvements. He was responsible for the organization of the Times, the Lock, the National Honor Society, the National Athletic Honor Society, and the Athletic Board of Control.

In addition to being a past president of the Northeastern Division of the Illinois Education Association and of the Will County Superintendents' and Principals' Association, our administrator is a member of the Board of Governors of the Illinois Association for the Crippled, first vice-president of the Will County Tuberculosis Association, and a member of Lewis College Board of Advisers and of the Silver Cross Hospital Board of Trustees.

Mr. Smith is included in "Who's Who in American Education," "Who's Who in the Midwest," and "Who's Who in Illinois."

Superintendent Smith will be missed greatly, but the "James M. Smith Auditorium," the auditorium in "our school of tomorrow" which will be dedicated to him, will serve as a constant reminder of the wonderful job he has done in making our high school one of the outstanding schools in the state.

SUPERINTENDENT JAMES M. SMITH, B.A., M.A.

Need for New Addition

Superintendent Smith gives dictation to Mrs. Jane E. McClintock, secretary.

Our superintendent represents us at the cornerstone laying ceremonies of the new Kelvin Grove School of Lockport, Illinois. The school will accommodate the sixth, seventh, and eighth grades of the Lockport Central School. This is only one of the many grade schools within our township that have had to expand, and their pupils are our future students.

At the band banquet Mr. Smith congratulates the band on its success at Atlantic City.

OUR DEAN

Active Figure in School Life

Edward Flink, our dean, has been a very prominent figure in our school life. He, with a prospective eye, does an outstanding job of advising the students so that they may become useful and well-informed citizens. In addition to his classroom teaching and assisting in sports, he provides transportation home for students who become ill during the day.

Dean Flink again this year directed the Dellwood Park Clean-Up Program, and the water safety and lifesaving class for high school students.

Dean Edward Flink, B.A., M.A.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

They Nursed the Dream of the New Addition

Our very competent Board of Education is understanding and capable as the policy makers of Lockport Township High. The board consists of five elected members—President Marion M. DeSandre, Dr. Emil J. Viskocil, Dr. Robert J. Rock, Joseph Bolattino, and Carl E. Munson—plus Superintendent James M. Smith, the executive officer, and John D. Lynch, the secretary.

Foreseeing the increasing enrollment and the need of a larger building, the Board of Education is directly responsible for the fine planning of the building program. Now that the construction is taking shape, the board can be justly proud of its efforts toward the goal—"our school of tomorrow."

BOARD OF EDUCATION: President Marion M. DeSandre points out a special feature of the annexation, while the Board of Education and Superintendent James M. Smith study the blueprints. Seated are Dr. Robert J. Rock, Joseph Bolattino, President DeSandre, and Dr. Emil J. Viskocil, and standing are Secretary John D. Lynch, Superintendent Smith, and Carl E. Munson.

OUR FACULTY

Teachers Assist Students in Classrooms and in Extracurricular Activities

Our thirty teachers not only increase our knowledge in the line of subjects but also help us in our desire to become better citizens of tomorrow. L. T. H. S. has a wide range of courses and in each of these a capable instructor directs the training. The students are given a good background in the fields of mathematics, science, the fine arts, home economics, industrial arts, speech, English, physical education, social science, and commerce.

The instructors also take a genuine interest in extracurricular activities and are to be commended upon their excellent participation for the students' welfare.

New additions to our faculty this year were: Leo H. Pryor, Mrs. Betty S. Rose, Mrs. Joanna A. Cruse, and Mrs. Dorothy M. Lynch. New also this year was the program of student teaching which included the following Lewis College enrollees: Ted Jarosz, John Rose, and Joseph Farinella.

The office staff—Miss Dorothy J. Kure, Mrs. Esther N. Geddes, and Mrs. Florence S. Lund—add many conveniences to our school life. Mrs. Jane E. McClintock was also a member of the staff until her resignation in February.

Honor Is Due Where Good Service Is Given

Nineteen hundred fifty-two marks the twenty-fifth year in the Lockport phase of the teaching career of Miss Lucile Emmons.

Miss Emmons, a native of Michigan, received her education at the Portland Oregon High School, at Willamette University, the Chicago Musical College, and the University of Chicago, receiving her Ph. B. and M. A. at the latter.

Before coming to Lockport, Miss Emmons taught at McMinnville, Oregon, and Albany College, Albany, Oregon. Formerly she taught French and music here and was also the sponsor of the glee club, the orchestra, and Junior Red cross. At present she is teaching English I and III, and Spanish I and II. She also is in charge of a freshman home room and is a freshman sponsor.

We are proud of Miss Emmons' commendable record as one of our teachers and congratulate her upon her long term of service.

Miss Lucile Emmons, Ph. B. and M. A.; freshman home room and sponsor, Spanish I and II, and English I and III.

Graduates Reflect Memories of Four Years

As the bell tolled at 8:20 on the morning of September 7, 1948, we, approximately 185 freshmen, were added to the student body of L. T. H. S. Having successfully located our home rooms, we set out to find our classes. After becoming acquainted, we elected our officers: Wayne Adams, president; Joyce Skeldon, vice-president; Rosemary DeAngelis, secretary; and Charles Allison, treasurer. Participating in the various activities proved our enthusiasm.

For our sophomore year we elected Rikki Henke, president; Jean Wilson, vice-president; Marlene DeToffol, treasurer; and JoAnn Williamson, secretary. The class re-entered many of the activities and looked forward to becoming upper-classmen.

The class officers—Rikki Henke, president; Dale Carlstrom, vice-president; JoAnn Williamson, treasurer; and Donna Mowery, secretary—helped to make our junior year a successful one. We'll never forget the major high lights which included our class play, "He Couldn't Marry Five"; choosing our class rings; and sponsoring the prom, "An Enchanted Isle."

At long last we reached our senior year and elected Marlene DeToffol, president; Charles Kasper, vice-president; JoAnn DeSandre, secretary; and Charles Allison, treasurer.

Early in the fall, the Times and the Lock Staffs were selected. New to us also this year was the first Student Council dance, "So Dear to Our Hearts." While the success of our play, "Fog Island," was still on our minds, we were thinking of the junior-senior prom and the annual picnic.

As graduation draws near, when we don the gray, we realize that we are not finishing but just beginning.

SENIOR HONORS

Honor Thy Neighbor

D. A. R.: JoAnn DeSandre

ATHLETICS: Raymond Fedo

SCHOLARSHIP: Joyce Skeldon and Adele Carlson.
SCIENCE: Richard Henke.

ACTIVITY and AMERICAN LEGION: Joyce Skeldon and Richard Henke.

Good Paths to Follow

D. A. R.: JoAnn DeSandre, chosen by the faculty from the group of three seniors nominated for the Daughters of American Revolution Award, affixes her membership pin. The choice was based on dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism.

ATHLETICS: Raymond Fedo proudly displays one of his many letters after being named by the athletic department as the most outstanding athlete of the senior class.

SCHOLARSHIP: Joyce Skeldon and Adele Carlson obtain information from the school library. Joyce and Adele were named valedictorian and salutatorian, respectively, for their high scholastic ratings.

SCIENCE: Richard Henke displays his knowledge of chemistry as he prepares a sample of bromine water. Outstanding grades in science determined the winner of this award.

ACTIVITY: Joyce Skeldon and Richard Henke work on literary for the Times and the Lock, two of the many activities in which they participated. They were chosen by the teachers as the winners of this award for having participated in the greatest number of activities of the school.

AMERICAN LEGION: Joyce Skeldon and Richard Henke pledge allegiance to the flag. Because of their qualities of courage, honor, scholarship, leadership, service, companionship, and character, they were selected by American Legion members from a group the senior class and the faculty had chosen.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Eighteen of us seniors were awarded the pins and the certificates of the National Honor Society for our scholarship, service, character, and leadership in school. The faculty chose us from the upper one-third of the class.

PERFECT ATTENDANCE: Darlene McGinn and Gertrude Stone await JoAnn DeSandre's and Adele Carlson's arrival. These girls received the perfect attendance award for their outstanding attendance records during their high school careers.

NATIONAL ATHLETIC HONOR SOCIETY

This year eight of our senior classmates were selected by the coaches as members of the National Athletic Honor Society because of the students' outstanding citizenship and sportsmanship. Also, to qualify each boy was required to have earned at least one athletic letter and to have maintained a scholastic average equal to or above the school average for three consecutive semesters.

QUILL AND SCROLL

The sponsors of the Times and the Lock selected twenty of us seniors from their staffs to become members of the Quill and Scroll. We not only qualified due to our abilities in writing, editing, and business management, but also because we were in the upper one-third of our class scholastically.

QUILL AND SCROLL—Front Row: R. Panich, J. Wheatley, A. Carlson, J. Rowley, J. DeSandre, J. Skeldon, G. Boehme, J. Sweeney, P. May, K. Toohey.

Added Responsibilities Are Outnumbered by New Joys at Finally Attaining the Role of 'Upperclassmen'

In the fall of '49, 190 of us enthusiastic freshmen began our high school careers at L. T. H. S. under the able leadership of president, William Allison; vice-president, Edward Woods; secretary, Ardis Fracaro; and treasurer, Angela DeSandre. We soon became established as participants in the various activities.

With one year to our credit, we held our own as sophomores, led by Raymond Mondrella, president; Roger Allen, vice-president; Charlene Jensen, secretary; and Richard Gliwa, treasurer.

The joys in becoming "upperclassmen" far out-numbered the added responsibilities for us this year. Producing the class play, "It's Never Too Late"; choosing our rings; entertaining the seniors at the annual prom; and attending the picnic at St. Charles as guests of the seniors helped make this a memorable third year. Our officers included president, Robert Paddock; vice-president, Katherine Clapper; secretary, Jacqueline Cannon; and treasurer, Rinaldo Caneva.

Another Page Is Added to Our Book of Knowledge

As the doors of L. T. H. S. opened on September 4, 1950, approximately 200 of us freshmen crossed the threshold into a new life far different from our grammar school days.

The beginning was but a matter of becoming accustomed to the routine of high school students. We elected Frank Ogren, president; James Greenan, vice-president; Ronald Johnson, secretary; and Barbara Blish, treasurer. In addition to our school work, we entered into many of the extra-curricular activities.

Continuing the pace begun as freshmen, we, as sophomores, set out to add another page to our ever-growing book of knowledge. A great number of us participated in the school's activities and with added enthusiasm. Our officers included Ronald Johnson, president; Robert Pluth, vice-president; Donald Caneva, secretary; and Daniel Llewellyn, treasurer.

With two active years to our credit, we are looking forward to the title of "upperclassmen."

The Rapid Growth of Our School Is Evidenced by the Enrollment of 227 Freshmen

At the opening of the school session last September, the upperclassmen greeted 227 of us freshmen, the largest class ever to be enrolled in L. T. H. S. This may serve as proof that the enrollment of the school is growing rapidly and that the new addition is needed to furnish room for the expansion.

The newness of our surroundings soon wore off as we "freshies" became engaged in the various phases of athletics and music enjoyed by students of L. T. H. S. Many girls joined G. A. A. while the boys became active participants in basketball, football, baseball, etc.

Under the leadership of its officers—William Johnson, president; Billy Jensen, vice-president; Nancy Jones, secretary; and Emanuel Mickel, treasurer—our class has made a good start up the long road ahead.

ACTIVITIES

Within "our school of tomorrow" the activities of L. T. H. S. will have room for expansion. Included in the addition will be a new auditorium, a cafeteria, a music department, and a visual education room, plus workrooms for the established clubs, which includes the newly organized Future Nurses of America Club.

Credit to Our School

Under the direction of Ernest O. Caneva, the approximately one hundred members of the Lockport Township High School Band strived to be a credit to their school and community throughout the year.

Last summer the band made a trip east to participate in the Lions Club International Parade, being rated second only to the Mississippi All-State Band. It won first place at the Harvard Milk Festival, at the Illinois State Fair, and at the Riverview Mardi Gras.

Big events for the musicians during the school year were the presentation of the annual concert; the banquet; the trip to Holland, Michigan; and the participation in the Midwest Music Clinic held in Chicago.

With the aid of assistant director, Herb Tatroe, and the "Cadets," a newly formed organization of girls having exceedingly good marching ability, the band performed during the half-time periods of the football games. They also played at pep meeting and basketball games besides participating in various civic activities.

A new activity this year was a clinic held for the members of the grade school bands of the area to aid them in improving their playing and style.

Lockport Township High School Band

receives Cheers on the Boardwalk

As the snappy Lockport Township High School Band marched down the Boardwalk in Atlantic City, New Jersey for the Thirty-fourth Annual Lions Club Convention on June 25, thunderous applause echoed from either side. Because of its precise marching and concert-like playing, the band captured second place in competition with eighty other bands. Only the band from Mississippi which was composed of players throughout the state of Mississippi topped our Illinois Band.

Next stop for the band members was the famous metropolis, New York City. A cruise of Manhattan Island and tours of the city provided a full day of sight-seeing for the students. These tours included the visiting of such famous places as the United Nations Building, the Statue of Liberty, and the Empire State Building.

Washington, D. C. was the final stop on the band's agenda before leaving the East. While there they made excursions to Washington Monument, the Capitol, the United States Treasury, Annapolis Military Academy, Arlington Cemetery, Mount Vernon, and the historical city of Alexandria.

With the happy memories of this trip fresh in their minds, the band turned westward. Next stop—Lockport!

CHORUS

Musicale at Noontime

Truly the gathering of members of the chorus was a musicale, for all participated with such fervor. Giving up twenty minutes of their lunch hour was a small sacrifice to those who wished to be directed by the capable hand of Ernest O. Caneva.

The chorus, composed of approximately seventy-five students, participated in the annual concert and were represented in civic programs by a group of twelve, "The Madrigals."

Officers for the year were president, Rosemary Panich; vice-president, Marnita Hill; and treasurer, Frank Ogren.

ORCHESTRA

Neither James nor Dorsey but Lockport

The L. T. H. S. Orchestra, under the direction of Ernest O. Caneva, proved its musical ability as it entertained the audiences of both the junior and senior plays.

The approximately twenty-five band members were not only capable of creating "Night and Day" with their mellow legato notes but could also imitate the "Dancing Tamborine" in staccato style.

Although the results of their time and effort didn't quite equal Harry James nor Tommy Dorsey, they certainly proved to be a fine display of L. T. H. S. musicianship.

ORCHESTRA—Front Row: J. DeSandre, R. Marco, J. Majetich, A. DeSandre, T. Drake, T. Bucciferro, J. Skeldon, G. Boehme, M. Hill, N. Claussen, P. Winkler, J. Zolecki.

Memories of Eventful Trip East

"Atlantic City Memories" was the theme of the Fifth Annual Band Banquet held on January 26, 1952, at the First Congregational Church.

Those who aided in recalling the happy events of the band's trip were John L. Pence, toastmaster; Walter Munch, president of the Band Boosters Club; Marion M. DeSandre, president of the Board of Education; James M. Smith, superintendent of L. T. H. S., and H. E. Nutt, superintendent of the Vandercook College of Music. The high point of the evening was reached when Eugene Reynolds, district governor of the Lions Club, presented the trophy to our band leader, Ernest O. Caneva, for the band's second place rating in the International Lions Club Parade in Atlantic City.

JoAnn DeSandre served as general chairman of the banquet. Other committee chairmen included Angela DeSandre, table setting, and Lloyd Munch, construction. The tables were attractively decorated with flowers donated by local florists and miniature music stands which were used as place cards.

To close the evening's entertainment, movies and slides of the trip were shown.

FUTURE NURSES OF AMERICA

Club Builds Good Background for Career

The Future Nurses of America Club, a newly organized group, was formed to provide an impetus to the high school girls in choosing nursing as a career.

The officers—Marianne Alexander, president; Janice Brown, vice-president; Donna Ingersoll, secretary; and Caralee Colegrove, Treasurer—worked in cooperation with Mrs. Goldie Lorenzen, the sponsor, in planning lectures and field trips to fulfill the purpose of the organization.

L. T. H. S. is happy to have this club as a new activity and hopes it will continue for years.

FOOTBALL BANQUET

With a "backfield" of turkey, dressing, hot rolls, and pie, and a filling "forward wall," the annual football banquet, served by the women of the First Congregational Church, climaxed the season for the two squads of gridmen. As toastmaster, Lester L. Lindberg was ably assisted by Quarterback Club and Wingback Club committeemen in planning a pleasant evening for the gridmen and their guests.

Following the invocation by the Reverend Kenneth Yeoman and the "kickoff" (the dinner), James M. Smith, superintendent; Edward Flink, dean; and Marion M. DeSandre, president of the Board of Education commented on the current football season. Mr. Melson spoke in behalf of the "Dads." The guest speaker of the evening was Douglas Mills, athletic director of the University of Illinois. He gave his point of view on the position of sports in education and on the sports' training which cannot be taught in the classroom.

After the presentation of the varsity and the fresh-soph letters by Coaches Edward G. Hill and Frank J. Rogers, respectively, the "final whistle" (the benediction) was given by the Reverend Gilbert Bengston.

NOON HOUR

'Our School of Tomorrow' Will

It is said that one cannot do good work on an empty stomach. As proof of this, a high percentage of L. T. H. S. students "flocked" to the cafeteria to devour the meals so professionally prepared by Mrs. Euphemia Woock, Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, and their student assistants, supervised by Mrs. Marion K. Morrison. In addition to the monitors, Edward G. Hill and John L. Hogan were on duty regularly while other teachers alternated their services to help the program run smoothly.

The inability of the present cafeteria to accommodate the ever-increasing throngs of hungry students was especially noticeable on days when weather did not permit students to evacuate the room before the chorus members came down. The cafeteria in "our school of tomorrow" will alleviate this congestion.

The few students who brought their lunches either ate in the cafeteria or out-of-doors.

THE JUNIOR PLAY

"'It's Never too Late' fo

Miss Eleanor A. Urban, director, watches as the stage managers, D. Roberts and R. Ruchalski, check the operation of the window before the play begins.

In order to defray the expenses of the annual prom, the junior class, under the direction of Miss Eleanor A. Urban, presented a three-act comedy, "It's Never Too Late," on November 15 and 16.

The humorous plot of the play and the skill with which the students handled their lines were combined to keep the audience howling at the actions of Mr. Lee, a successful business man, who quite suddenly and unexpectedly took great interest in his home and family. Mr. Lee surprised everyone with his amusing antics in his attempt to fulfill the duties of a family man.

Members of the cast were: "Mr. Lee," a successful business man, David Meadows; "Mrs. Lee," his wife, Janice Brown; "Charles," their son, Robert Paddock; "Virginia," the oldest daughter, Loretta Genge; "Deedie," the maid, Dolores Jones; "Kathryn," a neighbor, Phyllis Winkler; "Miss Stanley," Mr. Lee's secretary, Jean McCaghren; "Lewis," Mr. Lee's advisor, Lloyd Munch; "Arthur," Virginia's boy friend, Rinaldo Caneva; "Football Players"—William Allison, James Ernst, Richard Gliwa, Joseph Ventura, and Charles Werdenhoff; "Society Ladies"—Jacqueline Cannon, Jean Charlton, Ardis Fracaro, Rosemary Juranich, Cecilia Miller, Sue Ramos, and Alice Spangler.

OUR SENIOR PLAY

Home Town Talent Keeps Audience

Our class presented a spine-tingling suspense drama on March 20 and 21. Miss Eleanor A. Urban directed the three-act play, "Fog Island."

The plot was filled with excitement from curtain to curtain, and the audience was kept wondering whether the crafty Brock or the young scientist, Jerry Martin, would triumph in the end.

The scene of the play was on an island off the coast of California where Brock and his two accomplices had succeeded in marooning Jerry Martin for the purpose of prying from him some atomic secrets. After a series of episodes in which a sheriff and some picnicking girls became lost on the island, Jerry finally overpowered Brock, and the play ended with the atomic secrets safe.

Members of the cast were as follows: "Mrs. Williams," the sullen housekeeper spy,

Juniors Create 'An Enchanted Isle'

Ah yes! The fragrance of flowers, the sea, and soft music would set any person's mind wandering to "An Enchanted Isle," the theme of the prom the juniors sponsored for us seniors.

Don Adams and his orchestra serenaded us as we danced our way through the palm trees.

While sipping punch and chatting, we were entertained by the vocal selections of Maureen Caneva, Nancy Ogren, and Grace Boehme.

John Coon and Virginia Hoehn, king and queen of the isle, and their followers were led along the sandy shores in a grand promenade by Richard Henke, president of the junior class, and his date.

As the hands of the clock approached midnight, we realized our wandering journey was nearing an end, but the memory of that evening will linger forever in our isle of dreams.

We take this opportunity to thank the junior class, its sponsors—Chairman Clinton O. Bismarck, Miss Lorina E. Goerz, Miss Eleanor A. Urban, Mrs. Margaret S. Mitzit, Frank J. Rogers, Orris S. Young, and Ernest O. Caneva—and especially the committee chairmen—Adele Carlson, decorating; Dale Carlstrom, construction; Joyce Skeldon, purchasing; Joseph Paul, electrical; Joyce Wheatley, program and invitations; Bonnie Becker, punch and checkroom; and Grace Boehme, floor show—for honoring us with such an enjoyable evening.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The big project of the year was the Valentine dance. Seen coming through the heart are D. Mowery, R. Fedo, C. Kasper, and J. Charlton.

The Student Council is an organization for the promotion of better student-faculty relationship and is the voice of the student in school government. It is comprised of home room representatives and the presidents of various organizations within the school. This year's officers included Winn McCray, president; JoAnn DeSandre, vice-president; Richard Henke and Craig Hudson, assistant vice-presidents, and JoAnn Williamson, secretary-treasurer. The council was capably sponsored by Daymond J. Aiken.

A used-book stand was set up the first day of school. This started off an active year of projects for the council. Among the first was the installation of hall monitors who were to keep order and act as guides for visitors.

J. Djerf, a hall monitor, gives directions to D. Strong and J. McCray.

C. Hudson, R. Panich, W. Adams, and J. DeSandre practice a skit for a pep session.

Council Helps Promote Better Student-Faculty Relationship

The two main projects of the year were Open House under the direction of JoAnn DeSandre, and the Valentine dance, "So Dear to Our Hearts," under the able direction of the co-chairmen, Rosemary Panich and Craig Hudson. In addition to these was "The March of Dimes" campaign.

The year was also packed with interesting assembly programs for the education and enjoyment of the students and faculty. Some of them were sound effects by the Allens, modern art by Dr. Harry Wood, and sacred and semi-classical songs by Pruth McFarland.

Although members of the Student Council were willing and determined, their work would not have been successful without the full co-operation of the student body and faculty.

OPEN HOUSE

Community Shows Interest in Our School of Today

The annual Open House of the Lockport Township High School was held November 8. The largest group of people ever to attend an L. T. H. S. Open House was shown the exhibits and the various departments by the Student Council members.

Exhibits and demonstrations included a band concert, basketball practice, swimming, typing, shop activities, play practice, art, and a yearbook display.

Added attractions this year were the band instrument display, the foods and clothing classes in operation, and the audio-visual aids exhibit.

This project, under the direction of JoAnn DeSandre, proved to be an overwhelming success.

VISUAL EDUCATION

Pictures Tell the Story

The old Chinese proverb, "One picture is worth ten thousand words," has been proven in that motion pictures have become increasingly important in the field of education. Again this year education was made easier and more enjoyable by the visual aids in the auditorium. "Our school of tomorrow" will include a visual aids room which will add to the conveniences of the project.

The projector operators for this year's visual education were supervised by Orris S. Young and were recruits from his electric shop.

PROJECTOR OPERATORS: O. S. Young, visual education sponsor, and his novices — J. Ventura, D. Bengtson, R. O'Brien, D. Imparl, D. McCarthy, J. Polyak, J. Paul, and F. Kinsella — examine the audio-visual aids display at Open House.

THE TIMES

"The March of Times"

A band of eighteen of us seniors edited a monthly parade, "The March of Times," for the reading pleasure of the L. T. H. S. students.

The drum major, Joyce Skeldon, under the guidance of the director, John L. Pence, lead the squads up and down the streets of news and sports turning onto the side roads only for gossip, humor, and exchange.

Wide circulation and general advertising aided materially in making the parade a marching success.

Every student of L. T. H. S. will agree that five cents was a small admission fee to pay for such a wide variety of tunes.

RED CROSS

A Year of Service

Leading the charitable services that were performed by the Junior Red Cross this year was the purchase of a wheel chair for the county chapter. In addition to this, the organization packed gift boxes, contributed to the school chest, and made flexahexagons, which were sent to veterans' hospitals.

To cover some of these expenses, programs were sold at all the home games in addition to the contributions received in the membership campaign.

These services proved to be a great success as led by Miss Lorina E. Goerz, sponsor, and the officers—Joyce Skeldon, president; Rinaldo Caneva, vice-president; Katherine Clapper, secretary; and Nancy Richards, treasurer. Rosemary Panich, secretary of the Will County Chapter, was also a great help to the organization.

THE LOCK

Lock Staff Constructs Edition

The current construction of the addition to our school proved to be the incentive for the '52 yearbook theme, "Our School of Tomorrow."

Under the direction of Mrs. Mildred K. Shoop, the sponsor, our staff of twenty-four, headed by JoAnn DeSandre and Joyce Skeldon, co-editors, and Virginia Rigoni, business manager, constructed this year's edition in much the same procedure as the engineers in developing this year's addition.

Early in the year the circulation committee under the chairmanship of Craig Hudson successfully waged its sales campaign (bond issue). Although the subscription price to the student was only $2.75, the actual cost per copy was much more. Additional funds to cover the publishing of the book were secured as the social committee, headed by Winn McCray, directed after-game dances and coke sales. Proceeds were also obtained from coke machine sales throughout the year.

With the monetary means well in hand, the artists (architects)—Adele Carlson and Joyce Wheatley—proceeded with the layout (blueprint)

The interior of the edition neared completion when the photographs (rooms) were entered as prescribed in the plan (blueprint). The literary staff and the copy writers (carpenters) worked very hard to prepare corresponding literary material while the Pen Wipers (decorators) put the final touches on the edition.

With much pride we present to you and the community "Our Book of Today" and "Our School of Tomorrow."

LOCK STAFF DANCES

Homecoming Dance

High Light of Staff's Activities

As in preceding years the Lock Staff sponsored regular after-game dances to help defray the expenses of the yearbook. In addition cokes were sold during the games.

The big event of our activities was the Homecoming Dance held after the Reavis-Lockport football game. The high light of the evening was the crowning of King Charles of Allison and Queen Nancy of Ogren. The football team and we elected the king and queen and also their royal attendants who were Eugene Melson, Marie Nelson, Dale Carlstrom, Marlene DeToffol, Vincent McAsey and Grace Boehme.

The dances were successfully planned by the social committee consisting of Chairman Winn McCray, Nancy Claussen, Joanne Rowley, and Francis Kinsella.

Much credit is due our sponsor, Mrs. Mildred K. Shoop, and Domic Shulla and Joseph Kucera for their help in making our dances and coke sales a success.

Happy over being elected queen and king of the homecoming are N. Ogren and C. Allison.

Entertaining the crowd during the intermission are the "Four Notes"—R. DeAngelis, T. Bucciferro, R. Panich, and J. Sweeney.

The Government of Sports

Although little is heard of our Athletic Board of Control, our physical education program owes a great deal to this organization. Under the chairmanship of athletic director, L. L. Lindberg, the board set prices for all athletic events, made arrangements for the football banquet, and approved letter awards.

In addition to Mr. Lindberg, the group included Miss E. M. Olson, Dean E. Flink, Coaches E. G. Hill and F. J. Rogers, and P. Carlock and R. Mondrella, members of the student body.

Juniors Get Pigskin Preview

Coach Edward G. Hill was faced with a serious problem, a lack of gridmen, from the beginning of the pigskin season. The squad was also hampered because of several injuries to valuable players. Two fresh-soph gridders—Daniel Llewellyn and Alex Lowry—were promoted from the fresh-soph squad to the varsity. Some experimenting, which let many juniors see action, was done by Coach Hill and his assistants, Leo H. Pryor and Lester L. Lindberg, in an attempt to find a winning combination.

At the annual football banquet the gridgers received their well-earned awards. Varsity players receiving letters were: Charles Adelman, Norbert Adelmann, Charles Allison, Roger Allen, Dale Carlstrom, William Eaton, Richard Gliwa, Leonard Haberkorn, Richard Henke, James Konicek, Louis Larson, Daniel Llewellyn, Alex Lowry, Vincent McAsey, Eugene Melson, Raymond Mondrella, Jerome Nona, Fred Ravensbeck, Robert Seaborg, William Stone, and Dale Vercellotti.

THE VARSITY

St. Charles 13      Lockport 6

The small squad of Porter gridmen started the season in the wrong scoring column when they met a powerful St. Charles squad. On a right end run in the third quarter, Vercellotti charged eleven yards for the lone Lockport touchdown. In the final period St. Charles scored two quick touchdowns.

Batavia 7      Lockport 0

With mud and rain to add to their troubles, the Porters skidded through four quarters of "mud ball." Other than the lone score by Batavia, it was mostly a punting duel. One of Fullback Larson's punts skidded for ninety yards.

Bradley 13      Lockport 0

Unvanquished because of two losses, the Porters again were stopped short of scoring. Both teams showed good defensive play, but our gridmen fell short on offensive strategy.

Harvey J. V. 6      Lockport 7

The lone victory of the season came when our boys met a newcomer (Harvey Junior Varsity) on the home gridiron. Lockport came from behind in the fourth quarter, when Larson went over the three-yard line and Lowry carried for the extra point.

Reavis 12      Lockport 2

Scoring late in the fourth quarter on a safety, the gridmen were set back by a determined Reavis eleven. A pass interception aided Reavis in its second tally, but Lockport benefited from the opponents' penalties for clipping.

Lemont 12      Lockport 7

In the final contest the Porters' hopes were raised when they marched down from the Lemont forty-five yard line. Lowry carried the ball on the majority of plunges doing a fine job of running. Larson carried the ball over and Lowry scored the extra point. In the last half the Lemont grid-ders scored a touchdown in each quarter.

Morris 39      Lockport 8

Out-flanked by a speedy Morris squad which scored in every quarter, the Porters gave the Redskins their first victory. Halfback Allen made an eighteen-yard run to score. "Chuck" Adelman also "smashed" through the Morris line to tackle the Morris ball carrier in the end zone for a safety

Good Instruction and Will to Win Pay Dividends

The Fresh-Soph Portermmites, instructed by Coach Frank J. Rogers, were "well on their way" when they lost Daniel Llewellyn and Alex Lowry to the varsity squad. Although the team didn't equal its 1950 record of an undefeated season, it finished with a record of five victories and seven losses, compiling 114 points to its opponents' 46 points. Coach Rogers was assisted by Dean Edward Flink.

Fresh-Soph gridmen who received "L's" were Thomas Broderick, Leon Butler, David Eichhorn,

The Portermmites elected two backfieldmen—Robert Pluth and James Homerding—to the positions of honorary captain and most valuable player, respectively.

Speedy Floormen Lack Height

Coach Frank J. Rogers was confronted with the problem of molding a team from a squad of all juniors except three seniors, only one of whom was a returning regular. Height seemed to be concentrated in only two players—Raymond Fedo, 6'6", and William Haller, 6'3". What some lacked in height, however, was made up in speed and technique.

The varsity placed second in the Morris Invitational Holiday Tournament.

This year's lettermen included Raymond Fedo, Charles Kasper, Jean Wilson, Richard Cronholm, Peter Grubisich, William Haller, Raymond Mondrella, Edwin Sly, and James Starks. William Haller was awarded the most valuable player emblem and Pete Grubisich was elected honorary captain.

Raymond Fedo, our 6'6" center, gets set for a free throw. Finishing the season with a 20.5 point game average, he was rated the leading scorer within the Chicago area. In the Morris Holiday Tournament, "Ray" established a new tournament record of 33 points per game.

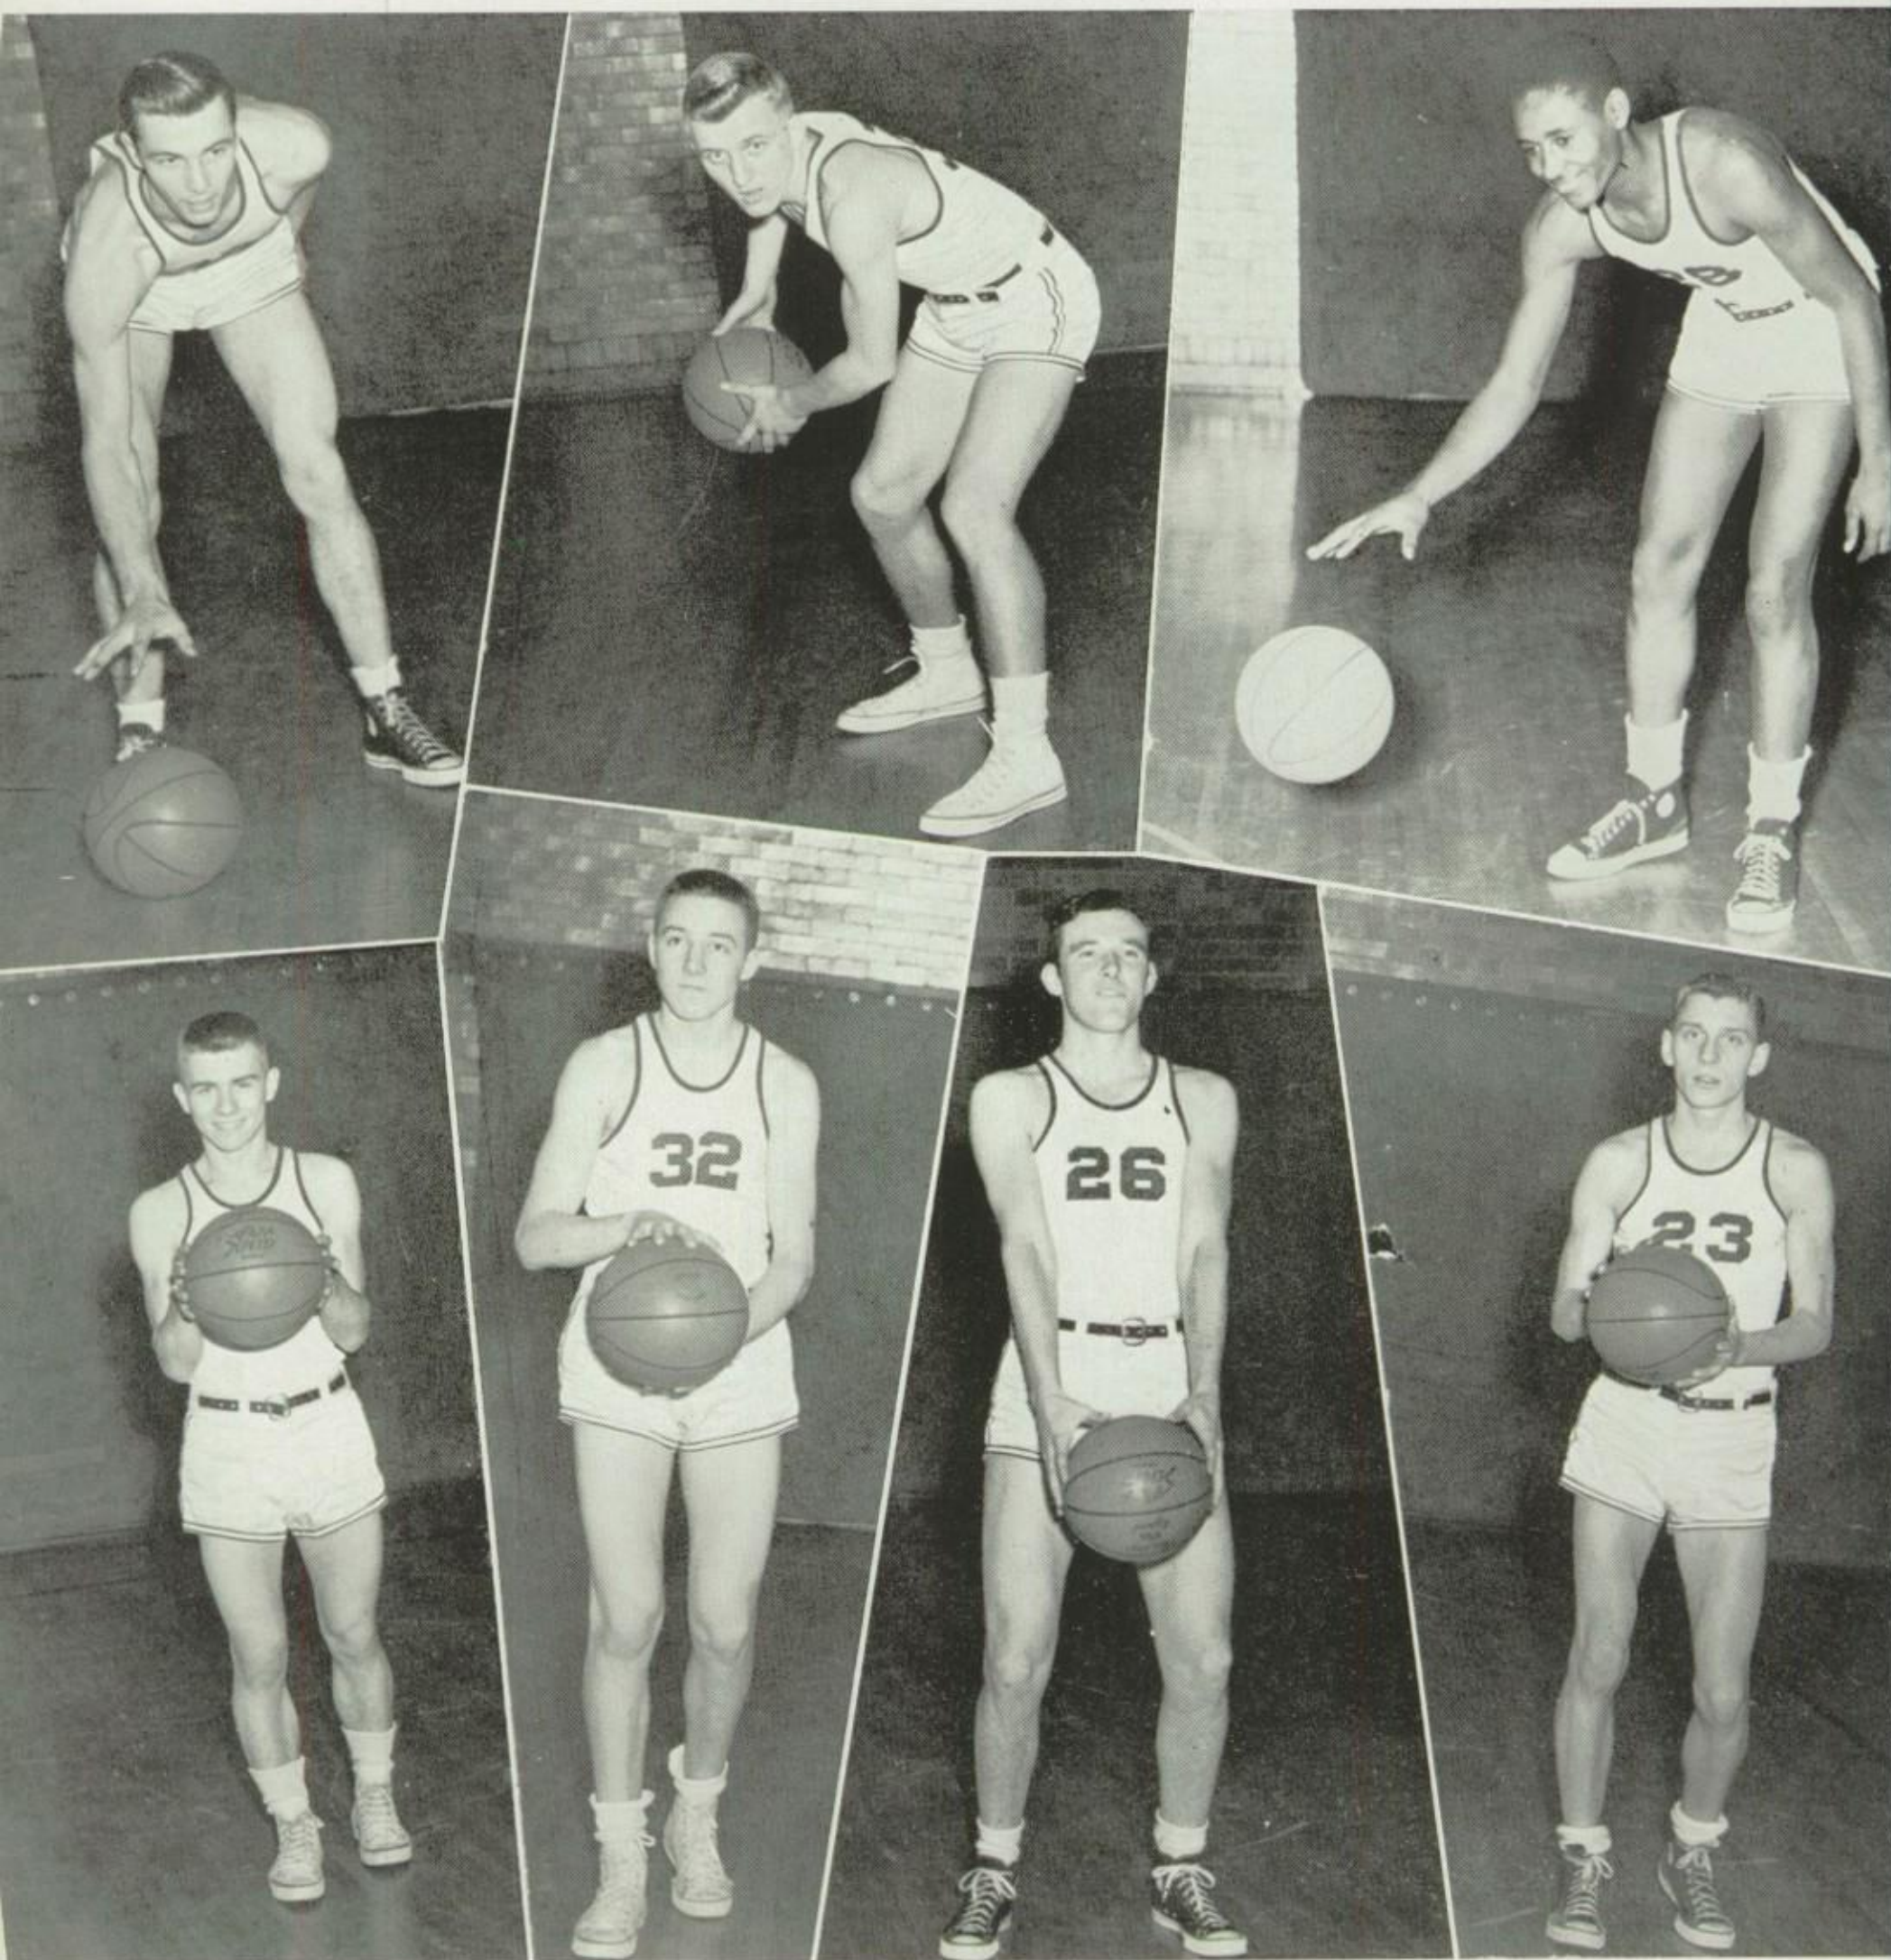

"Fedo" was chosen as a member of the Chicago Area All Star Team and of the South Suburban League Team.

Beginners Set a Good Example

Under the direction of Edward G. Hill, who has completed his second year as fresh-soph basketball mentor, the Portermite raised their 1950 percentage of .450 to .667 in 1951. Although they lacked the advantage of height, the fresh-soph squad more than made up for this deficiency in their fast playing and their skill in applying the fundamentals.

At the end of the season the squad elected Thomas Haller, honorary captain, and Philip Gould, the most valuable player. The following ten boys received basketball letters: Philip Gould, James Greenan, Thomas Haller, James Homerding, Carl Johnson, Ronald Johnson, Alex Lowry, Victor Pearson, Robert Pluth, and Eugene Shulla.

Instruction Begins Early

Believing that the instruction of a sport should start early, as shown by last year's record, a freshman basketball squad composed of twenty, under the guidance of Coach Lester L. Lindberg, was organized. Ten of these freshmen were also on the sophomore squad where they received valuable game experience.

Although only one game was scheduled, the boys practiced regularly during gym periods and on Saturday mornings. Other schools within the South Suburban League are also adopting the plan of a freshman squad. It is hoped that within the next few years a freshman basketball league will be established.

Although prospects for the current baseball season didn't look too encouraging when only sixteen diamondmen reported for the first practice, Coach Edward Flink's hopes have been increased with the varsity's winning of six games to date and the losing of only two.

The team this season is centered around a few returning seniors and many inexperienced juniors. Coach Flink's greatest headache is the lack of pitchers. With only one returning moundsman, Raymond Fedo, the pitching staff has been weakened considerably. The two games that were lost were both second games of double-headers.

Eighteen games have been scheduled, with double-headers against Bloom and Kankakee.

Portermitees Receive Basic Instruction

Again this year Coach Frank J. Rogers has the job of getting freshmen and sophomore aspirant ball players into shape for future varsity competition.

Coach Rogers has five returning lettermen who answered the call. He hopes to build a hard-hitting team around these boys.

Due to the weakness in pitching and poor fielding, the Portermitees are still looking for their first victory as we go to press. We wish them luck in their remaining games of the year.

TRACK

Fresh-Soph Today; Varsity Tomorrow

The majority of boys who have reported for track this spring are underclassmen. The varsity has only one letterman and two other prospects. Prospects for the fresh-soph squad, however, are much greater. As we go to press they are becoming a serious threat to the South Suburban League having thus far taken three second places in four meets.

Better facilities are needed for track although Coach Edward G. Hill is doing the best possible with the equipment available.

To give all boys a chance to play basketball and to teach them fair play were the two prime objectives of the intramural basketball tournament. Each team in the varsity and the fresh-soph divisions played a single "round robin." The "Plow Jockeys" won in the junior-senior competition and the "Seven Stars" in the fresh-soph.

LIFE SAVING AND WATER SAFETY

The Fish Have Nothing on Them

If on certain school days you had stopped in at the L. T. H. S. pool after 3:15, you would have noticed the strange actions of the swimmers in the pool. These actions meant a great deal to them for they were learning how to handle the different emergencies that might arise in the water.

Under the guidance of Dean Edward Flink, the boys and girls not only improved their swimming skills, but also learned various grips, surface diving, and disrobing in the water.

Red Cross badges were given to all who completed the course satisfactorily.

Sportsmanship Predominates in Girl's Sports

With the slogan, "Sportsmanship Predominates," in mind the girls of the G. A. A., under the sponsorship of Miss Eva M. Olson, learned to cooperate with each other while having fun and developing muscles.

Volleyball, bowling, basketball, basket shooting, golf, swimming, tumbling, and riding were the sports included in this year's organization. Competition in the form of state tournaments, individual contests, and rivalry among classes, entered into many of the activities and enabled the girls to prove their abilities. The teams winning first in the State Telegraphic Bowling Tournament and second in the District Basket Shooting Tournament added two more trophies to the G. A. A.'s growing collection.

Initiation Day and the Mother-Daughter Tea contributed to the wholesome fun of the organization. This year's officers included JoAnn Williamson, president; Patsy Carlock, vice-president; Joanne Rowley, secretary; and Beryl Strong, treasurer.

OUR SPONSOR SPEAKS:

Our sponsor, Mrs. Mildred K. Shoop, and her seven yearbooks.

The completion of this edition and school term brings to a close an experience for which I am very grateful—that of sponsoring Lockport Township High School's yearbooks and the staffs' dances for the past seven years, in that such activities have made possible a closer relationship with the students than could have been attained through only classroom associations. Working with them has been a pleasure as they have been remarkably cooperative and dependable every year.

My sincere thanks are extended to all who cooperated in any way in the editing of the Locks I have sponsored. I also extend to my successor, Mrs. Margaret S. Mitzit, the best of wishes in her new endeavor.
